

BROADCAST TECHNOLOGY

What is Broadcast Technology?

Interested in the exciting field of television broadcasting?

OCTC's Broadcast Television Production

Certificate program could be for you.

Students receive top-notch instruction and gain valuable hands-on experience in the college's television studio.

Students learn all aspects of the television production process – from the first idea to the final edit. Graduates develop skills in script preparation, camera operation, directing, lighting and editing. Whether you want to be on camera or behind the scenes, OCTC is a great place to start.

Graduates of this program can transfer directly to Western Kentucky University's top rated Broadcast Journalism Program.
